Dear All, This Sunday we celebrate the Baptism of the Lord, the feast that brings the Christmas season to its close and opens the door to Jesus' public ministry. At the river Jordan, Jesus steps into the waters alongside those he has come to save, not because he needs repentance, but to fully share in our human story. As Jesus rises from the water, the heavens open, the Spirit descends, and a voice is heard: "This is my beloved Son, with whom I am well pleased." These words do not belong to Jesus alone. They echo over each one of us, reminding us that through our own baptism we are claimed by God, called his beloved sons and daughters, and entrusted with a mission. The Baptism of the Lord invites us to remember who we are and whose we are. It calls us to live out our baptism each day—by choosing love over indifference, service over self-interest, and faithfulness in the ordinary moments of life. Pope Leo XIV explained that baptism "gives us life" to renounce a "culture of death," which is so prevalent in today's society. As we move from the joy of Christmas into the rhythm of Ordinary Time, may we do so renewed in our identity as God's beloved people, sent to reflect Christ's light in the world. Fr John

OUR SEMINARIAN

Lukasz Klis, a young parishioner, is a first-year seminarian at the seminary of Saint Philip Neri, Institute of Christ the Sovereign King, at Florence, Italy. He spent a preparatory year in one of the Institute's churches in England. He shares some thoughts about the Priesthood and seminary life.

The Institute of Christ the King the Sovereign Priest (ICKSP) is based on three main pillars which are the foundations of the Institute's life – 'Ora, lege et labora.' – pray, read and work, from the Rule of St Benedict.

The day begins with prayer, the recitation of the Divine Office, Lauds and half an hour's meditation. This is followed by lecture periods and Mass and the Office of Sext. During lunch a reading is chanted. After recreation, there are more study periods. The day concludes with the singing of the Office of Vespers, Supper and Compline.

Lukasz explained that when he was about six or seven, he went to church with his mother. After his First Holy Communion he became an altar server, remembering St John Paul II words, 'You are far more than mere helpers of the Parish priest. You are servants of Jesus Christ, the eternal High Priest.'

A profound influence and inspiration in his life was his grandmother. Lukasz believes strongly that the intellectual pursuit of truth about God is intertwined with love for Him. The more one knows God, the deeper the potential for joy.

Study allows a person to grow in their appreciation and intimacy with the divine. At the start of life in the seminary there has been study of doctrine, certain dogmas and encyclical letters. This helps us to get closer to the Lord, although we can never fully comprehend God in this life. As ICKSP is an international seminary, one begins to get the idea of the universal church.

The Sacred Priesthood of Jesus Christ is inseparable from the Eucharist and vital to the life of the Church. All priests need the love and support of all the faithful. Lukasz thanks the parish for their prayers and support.
